Bahrain: Creating Economic Opportunities in the Middle East

It's become a well-worn cliché of late that markets fear uncertainty. And with all the upheavals taking place in the Middle East because of the “Arab Spring,” it's no surprise that investors are unsure about the viability of business endeavors throughout the region. Our upcoming guest will look to assuage those fears by proving that at least one country in the region, Bahrain, is open for business.

Shaikh Mohammed bin Essa Al Khalifa serves as Chief Executive of the Bahrain Economic Development Board, the body entrusted with ensuring the continued growth and stimulation of Bahrain's economy. He was appointed to this role in June 2005, after 10 years as a close and trusted aide of His Royal Highness Prince Salman Bin Hamad Al-Khalifa, Crown Prince of Bahrain, ending as President of His Royal Highness's Court.
